

Be A Part Of It !

Here at the Blackpool Civic Trust, we have a long history of volunteering and of supporting other organisations in delivering projects. Because of this we're always looking for volunteers to help us with a wide range of activities.

You could be helping us scrape years of paint off the tiles of a nineteenth century Turkish bath, painting one of our listed beach shelters or surveying the condition of our listed or locally listed buildings. There are less physical tasks too; whether it's manning a stall at an outside event, working as a steward for our own events, or helping us with other tasks.

I'm interested in volunteering in the following capacity:

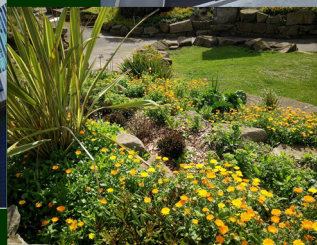

- Fundraising
- Stewarding events
- Administration
- Selling tickets for our events
- Working on projects

Who We Are

Blackpool Civic Trust is a non-political, non sectarian organisation working only for the interests of Blackpool residents in shaping a better future for the town.

Formed in February 1975, Blackpool Civic Trust has spent the last 50 fighting for a better Blackpool.

Our charitable objects are;

- To encourage a sense of civic pride
- To promote high standards of planning and architecture
- To preserve, protect and improve features of historic or public interest

The Civic Trust works alongside other groups to deliver its objectives and our long term partners include Blackpool Council, as well as other charitable organisations like Blackpool Fylde & Wyre Volunteer Centre.

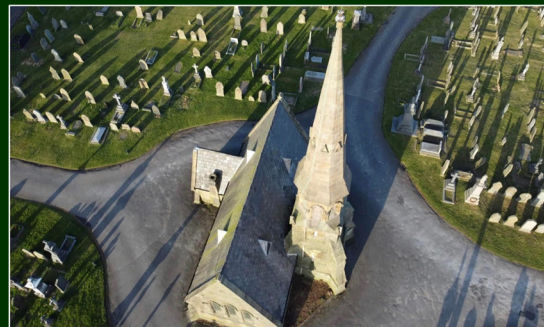

The Civic Trust is governed by a Board of volunteers drawn from our membership and each Board member has a specific set of responsibilities. To see more about the Civic Trust and our work, please visit our website at blackpoolcivictrust.org.uk

What We Do

Blackpool Civic Trust isn't just about the past. Whilst one of our biggest roles is as a consultee on planning applications for listed buildings as well as development within conservations areas, we also comment on major new development. This helps us to protect and enhance our local amenities and it means we play a real role in local regeneration.

Blackpool Civic Trust also has an extensive programme of activities for members and offers a range of visits and volunteering opportunities. We also have an annual awards programme to recognise good development and the work of local community groups .

The Civic Trust hold a monthly members meeting which allows members to contribute to our work and to comment on development proposals or ask questions of the Board. As part of our members meeting we also have guest speakers talking on a range of subjects from local history to new buildings, projects and developments in the town. Please check our website for our next meeting dates and locations.
